He is a very care ful letter writer, taking pain to have every word written plainly. He is a mass ter at panetuation. He uses a heavy American linen paper of note size and square envelope. Since he has been president he has not used one sheet of goverment paper or an envelope which he ha not purchased himself."

most popular member of the governmen among his party friends and the follow ing sentiments of the Shelbyville Them. evel are quite commonly entertained by democrats:

Much complaint is heard because Mr. Adlai E Stevenson, the first assistant postmaster-general, was absent from Washington a week on a visit in Hinois. It is arged that during the time be was away 100 fourth-class postmustate wer away 100 fourth-chass postmasters with removed, and if he had remained at his desk the number would have been in creased to 500. But Stevenson is back now, and has resumed operations at the old stand. The fact of the business is old stand. The fact of the business is that the country cannot get along very well without Stevenson, and when he goes off on a little trip you bet the democrats miss him. The administration can get along very well without some of its officials, but Stevenson is not one of them. He is dear to the democratic heart, and they want him to take no more trips—not even for a day.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 1885. To those who cannot sleep of nights lest Mr. Cleveland should fall into the hands of the mugwumps, it may be said that the President has not indicated by word or deed that he intends doing any thing of the kind. There is one thing, however, that the President has determined upon, and that is that the spoils element in the Democratic party shall not get the upper hand or get into a position by which they will be englited to dietate to him. It is this determination. that has antagonized so many of the spoils seekers who make the mistake of crating the President for the one great feature that creates the excellence of his administration. He is the President of the people, and not of the faction who suppose that he is simply sent to Washington to dole out the offices. He has public service and thus promote the pul he welfare. He said just this before he was voted for by the people, and why should it be expected that he should change? If the great democratic party cannot accept him as its leader with the cannot accept him as its leader with the admirable purposes that are his set out to accomplish, it were better that it should disband, and organize under say platform that eliminates pulviotism and decency, to adopt the despicable motto of the spoilsman.

Washington is about to put on her best bib and tucker to receive in a suitable manner the man who was mainly instrumental in making the city the most beautiful and attractive in the world. When Boss Slepherd was at the head of affects and the list of Columbia, he was best in the District of Columbia, he in the District of Columbia, he was hose with all that the name implies. He struck out with a determination to make Washington what the capital of a big country should be, the pride of the American people and the envy of foreign visitors, and how horroughly he has done the work the streets and parks and general appear ance of the city abundantly demonstrate. It mattered not that Shepherd practicall in material control of the District in the grading and improvement of the streets, by the extravagant prices that he paid for both labor and material, for property was enhanced in value to the istonishing degree that turned the of better feeling against Shepherd to of absolute admiration. The govern pays one half of the tax levy of the while the citizens pay the other half a little more, because that for gas and a fittle more, because that for gas and water is levied directly upon the consum-er, at exorbitant rates. From 1868 to 1874 while Shephe rd was in the vigor of his administration, he expended about thirty one millions of dollars in bringing Wasaington out of its poor estate as a swamp and a malarial swamp at that, so that ! side the extraordinary advances in the ne of the real estate of the city there a corresponding increase in the healthfulness as well as cleanliness of its popula-When the Potomac flats shall baye been deepened and the sewerage of the city completed as it is now proposed to complete it, there is no reason why Washington should not show as clear a hill of freedom from mortality as any city in the United States, for all of which she
